transition period. They were warm and welcoming towards new teachers and uncomplaining about the extra work caused by the renovations and adjustments to the new management.

I want to thank parents for your patience and support. I met some of you again on 28 September during the Mooncake making event where I was the chef and I am greatly encouraged by your positive feedback and well-wishes

September is the fourth month since I've been involved in this centre. Things are now much more settled. We have enough teachers and a good team in place. Jing Lao Shi's S-pass problems are over and she is back to stabilise and implement the Chinese curriculum. All the new teachers, including teacher Patmah (who joined us in September) have settled in and Melissa is now able to effectively carry out her role as a Supervisor.

I deeply appreciate all the teachers who have been working so hard in this

Our dearest PN1 and PN2 children have been a great time exploring the theme, "My Body", which focused on their senses and the different parts and functions. They really enjoyed the hand-on activities which got them very excited and well engaged.

The Nursery children have been enjoying their new learning strategies involving lots of games and hands-on activities. They are very much into learning character traits (patience) through songs and role-playing activities. Their language and reading skills are also picking up as they are consistently exposed to new vocabulary and reading strategies.

The Ks have had countless opportunities to learn about being patient and its purpose. Discussions and games have been carried out to enhance reading and comprehension skills. For math, the K1s are now tackling place values and addition whilst the K2s are into Fractions and Time.
